ultimate Hogwarts contest winners

We recently challenged our LEGO Club members to design their own versions of the Ultimate LEGO Hogwarts™ Castle and, boy, did they conjure up some incredible creations! ■

Presenting the winners
- as selected by our esteemed panel of judges!

Rupert Grint
(Ron Weasley™)

Daniel Radcliffe
(Harry Potter™)

Emma Watson
(Hermione Granger™)

Harry Potter

First Prize

Branda Brooks, Wisconsin

"This was a fun model. I loved the detail that was included. The model really came alive for me when I saw all the characters in place. This was the complete model of Hogwarts. Congratulations!"

- Daniel Radcliffe

First Prize

Draw & Ryan Bradshaw, Georgia

"I loved this for showing the Quidditch™ pitch, train and layout - it gave a real sense of scale. Hogwarts here for very close to how it's portrayed in the films."

- Emma Watson

Grand Prize Todd Dillard, Florida

"This stood out for me as it felt like Hogwarts was a really solid, grand castle - exactly as it's meant to be. I also loved the detail in the Defense Against the Dark Arts classroom, especially the addition of the office at the front."

- Rupert Grint

Great Work, LEGO Builders. Professor Dumbledore would be proud!

Second Prizes

Chris Howell, New Hampshire

Daniel & Stephen McFarland, Virginia

Miller & Colin Henning, North Carolina

Brick Bots!

The first LEGO® space sets blasted off toy store shelves in 1979. Since then, robots and other space age contraptions have been a big part of the LEGO universe. ■

2001
7313 Red Planet Protector
7314 Recon-Mech RP

Again! The red planet Mars needed robots, and these two moveable mechs were the perfect planet protectors.

1998
4719 Robotic Innovation System v.2

A giant leap for robotkind! The LEGO Company introduced the programmable RCX brick. Suddenly robots sprang to life all over the planet! The LEGO robot revolution had begun!

1994
6697 Recon
6649 Robo-Gun

Bots with bite. These two take-no-prisoners bots were part of the top-selling LEGO Space System.

Both Outrage the Bot

You don't have to own a special LEGO set to build a robot that roars. You can make an RCX robot by opening up a LEGO set. What lots of different LEGO sets will you build?

1987
3852 Robot

Have remote, will travel. This remote-controlled TECHNIC® robot could transform into a 4-wheeled land rover.

2003
4099 Robobots
4097 Mini Robots

If you build them, they will rule! LEGO Designer Sets included all the parts and pieces to build an army of mechanical men.

2004
4506 Titan RP

The big bot. At 11 inches (28 cm) tall, Titan RP towers over all the LEGO bots of the past. This powerful bot has the best mobility of any LEGO robot. He has no moves and he has the charm — that's why he stars in the comic!

1984
6951 Robot Command Center

Impressor of the robots! The Spy-bot was one of the first brick bots to have human features.

STEWART'S BUILT ENTIRELY.
